

HIS OWN PLEASURE, IS FORD'S ANSWER

Gives Reason for Installation of System of Profit-Sharing.
WIDE INTEREST IS AROUSED
Workers Get Only Share of Profits They Help to Create.

BY WILLIS J. ARNOT.
New York, January 10.—"After all," said Henry Ford, of Detroit, as we sat at lunch in the New York Athletic Club, "what makes life worth living is the good will of your fellow beings and the good will you bear toward them."
"We are all of a sort, all bits of the same great structure of humanity," he said. "You have asked me why I installed the system of profit-sharing which has awakened such interest. In fact, I installed it for my own pleasure, for there is true pleasure in feeling that you have made others happy, lessened to some degree the burdens of your fellow men, made in many homes the difference between pinching poverty and a wage that permits pleasures and a little saving besides."
"We are able to do that by giving our workers a share of the profits they have helped us to earn. I would rather do that than leave a big fortune to relatives, to impersonal charities or to libraries and museums."
"I think my way is the best way to spend a big sum of money for the good of my fellows, and I enjoy doing it. It's all so simple that it doesn't seem worth so much discussion."

Different Discussion.
Somehow, those flashed across my mind, as this distributor of a $10,000,000 fund among his employees was talking of the simplicity of it all, the remembrance of a very different discussion of the duties of an employer to which I listened years ago.
As a "club reporter," I had been sent to describe the opening of a home for working women, which some merchant of that by-gone time was about to open with due notice to the press.
It was a very little home, indeed—one of the old-time brownstone houses, neatly fitted up in the most approved and cheerful style of a charitable institution. The benevolent employer, a true type of the day when a span of days and a "side-bar" budget in the park were the outward signs of opulence, undertook to enlighten the reporters upon the reasons for his beneficence.
"In my place of business," he said, "I employ many women and girls. I pay good wages, that is, the same wages paid by my competitors. But

Pretty Matron Had Catarrh for Years Now Entirely Well, Thanks to Peruna

Above is the photograph of Mrs. H. Garner, No. 2 Wool-bart Terrace, Atlantic City, New Jersey, who makes public the following statement:

"I have had catarrh of the head since childhood, but thanks to Peruna I am a well woman to-day. I am very grateful to Peruna. Sometimes I think I am not the same woman of a year ago, for I thought I would never get well again. My husband joins me in praising Peruna. He has had occasion to take it himself and is well pleased with the results."

one day I suffered a shock, I was driving my span through the park on my way out to McCombs Dam, and I noticed a girl looking rather intently at the rig.
"It turned out that she worked in the store, but I didn't recognize her—can't know all your workpeople, you know. Anyway, next day she spoke to me as I was passing through the room where she worked.
"I saw you driving in the park yesterday, Mr.," said she.
"So," said I, "What did you think of my team?" I was mighty proud of these horses.
"Mr.," I just sat down on a bench and wished I was one of those horses—well fed, well housed, tenderly cared for, never afraid that to-morrow may find them homeless, with no one to turn to and with nothing saved."
No Envy for Horses.
"Well, that set me thinking, and as a result, here is this home, with accommodations for thirty working girls, prices so low that they can live comfortably on the lowest wages, and as I stand here to-night I think of that girl's careworn look and think that I

MR. OR MRS. DYSPEPTIC! GET YOUR STOMACH RIGHT—PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

In five minutes! Time it! No indigestion, gas, sourness, belching.
"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—really does! overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, sourness, and sourness in five minutes—that's just what makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stultifying lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember—

LETTER SAYS HE DIDN'T GET INTO VESUVIUS

Sails From Rome on Gould Yacht.
Regretful, Too, He Didn't Break Monte Carlo.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)
Rome, January 10.—Joseph Letter, of Chicago, has left for Naples aboard the Niagara, Howard Gould's yacht, which he has chartered for a cruise around the world.

Just before sailing he told several close friends that his failure to descend the crater of Mt. Vesuvius was as keen a disappointment to him as failing to break the bank at Monte Carlo.

According to Professor Mallandra, who holds the record for descents into the crater, the failure is imputed to Mrs. Letter, who, after descending within fifty yards of the volcano, declared she no longer could stand the sulphurous exhalations, and hastily retreated to the observatory.

The first informal housewarming party at the American ambassador's residence has just been given, Mr. and Mrs. Page inviting many friends to inspect the decorations and historical frescoes adorning the stately salons of their new home, Delirago Palace. Refreshments were served to the guests. The ambassador expects to move in next Thursday, when he will hold his first reception.

A delightful informal dance was given this week at the Misses Stone's school, a party of American girls, who are enjoying the rare privilege of pursuing their studies in Rome, contributed largely to the success of the entertainment, ably seconded by a group of students from the American Academy.

Many American social events were held during the week. Prof. and Mrs. Jesse Benedict Carter and Mrs. Lee being among the hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Page, cousins of the ambassador, entertained at the residence a large number of friends, including Mrs. Hazlett, Mrs. Waldo Story, Dr. and Mrs. Eastland, formerly Misses Mary and Mrs. Page, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Gray, Mrs. Hurst and a large delegation of the Italian nobility.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Nelson Morris, of Chicago, gave a dinner at the Grand Hotel in honor of Prince Di Scalo, under-secretary of Foreign Affairs. Among the guests were Prof. and Mrs. Carter and former Naval Attaché Courtney Stewart and Mrs. Stewart.

Miss Rita Klesin, of New York, is here to investigate certain features of the Montessori system of education of children, more especially the results said to have been obtained in the education of weaklings and undeveloped children. Miss Klesin expects to stay here five months.

J. White, American consul at Naples, is here en route to his new post.

Hotel arrivals here include Mr. and Mrs. Bacon Soule, Mr. and Mrs. Rothman, of New York, and the Misses Failing, of Portland, Me., at the Grand Hotel; the Exchanges, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Thorne, Mrs. J. W. Heilmann, of San Francisco, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Wheeler, of New York, at the Hotel d'Angleterre; Mr. and Mrs. Morris Carter, of Boston.

BRAND-NEW BILLS THIS WAGON'S LOAD

Washington, January 10.—Visitors to Washington have noticed during the past few days, among other interesting and unique things often seen here, that many of the breakfast tables in the morning a large heavy wagon drawn by four horses and resembling in many ways a heavy circus wagon, except for the fact that there are no ornaments about it, and that it is slowly making its way up Pennsylvania Avenue towards the United States Treasury. This wagon is the government's official money wagon. In it are stacks of brand-new bills—in denominations of all kinds from $1 up to $1,000.

This wagon, rumbling under its heavy load of brand-new bills, is one of the strongest horses which can be had, never leaves the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, where the precious notes are made to the Treasury Building, where they are finally stored away in the big vault until eight armed officers of the law have taken their places, and are ready for the wagon's trip to the Treasury. One of these officers, who will be seen riding ahead of the big wagon to clear the way and to prevent any one from trying to break in this money box and securing its contents should an attempt be made to do so.

This officer rides about ten feet in advance of the horses pulling the wagon. On the front seat are three other officers, all of whom are heavily armed with pistols which can shoot straight into the twinkling of an eye. On the rear seat there are four more big husky officers ready to do business and send you to "Kingdom Come" should you show a disposition to stop the progress of their wagon and its contents. All told, these eight officers guard this wagon full of money after the bills have received their finishing touches from the hands of the experts in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and have been started for the Treasury to be stored away or sent out to different banks throughout the country to meet the needs of the people of the nation to satisfy their obligations from day to day.

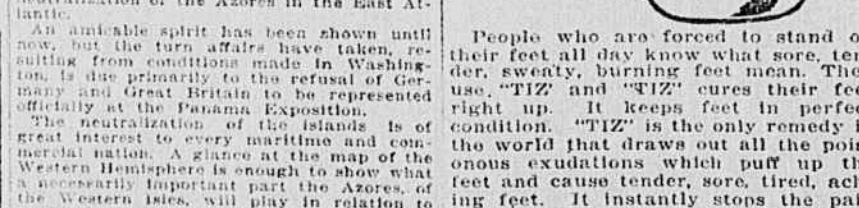

There are the little one-dollar bills, the fives and the tens, which are most frequently handled in daily business intercourse, and there are likewise the familiar yellow-back ones of the twenty-dollar kind, and those of the $50 and $100 variety.

But the new bills are not all that the money wagon carries when it starts on its daily trip. Sometimes it will carry a very few of the old government money-wagon when it starts on one of its trips and the highest government officials know, and with them secret, to give the public a sample of the quality of the new bills. To give the public a sample of the quality of the new bills is carried in this mammoth wagon in one of its trips would never be dreamed of for a moment.

NEWBERRY SEES NILE BEAUTIES ON A LONG TRIP

Cairo, January 10.—The prospects for a brilliant Egyptian social season were never more favorable. Owing to the dry, sunny weather, great crowds of American tourists are attracted to Assuan, where the Saturday night dances at the Cataract Hotel are largely attended.

The sports committee are arranging a billiard tournament to be held in connection with the American tennis tournament, which will shortly take place. The Savoy and Grand Hotels have just opened with the promise of full bookings.

At the Heliopolis, the first winter meeting this week attracted many Americans, and some excellent sport was witnessed. At the gymkhana meeting at the pyramids there was a highly interesting and varied program of sports.

Former United States Secretary of the Navy Truman H. Newberry and Mrs. Newberry are occupying the state apartment at Shepherd's Hotel. Mr. Newberry is highly delighted with Egypt. He told the correspondent that it was well governed, and it provided with clean, modern, comfortable hotels here with the greatest satisfaction from autumn to the beginning of summer. Mr. Newberry recently gave several brilliant banquets at Shepherd's, Marquis and Marchioness Strozzi following the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Newberry will visit the antiquities of Luxor before leaving Egypt.

Officers are installed and banquet given.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Emporia, Va., January 10.—Widow's Sons Lodge, No. 150, A. F. & A. M., held a public installation of officers on Friday night following a banquet, at which covers were laid for 150 men and women.

Officers were installed as follows: Charles H. Sewell, worshipful master; W. C. Weaver, senior warden; John R. Glizard, junior warden; Harry Schwartz, treasurer; Worshipful W. W. Robertson, secretary; W. D. Davis, senior deacon; George Fawcett, Jr., junior deacon; Worshipful T. J. Sharp and C. M. Howe, stewards; and J. G. Sims, roler.

A handsome jewel was presented to Worshipful A. J. Daugherty, the retiring master.

FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR MAMMA, DAD, BABY, "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

Better than calomel, oil or salts for liver, bowels and stomach.

Mother, daddy and the children can always keep feeling fine by taking this delicious fruit laxative as occasion demands. Nothing else cleanses the stomach, liver and bowels so thoroughly as "California Syrup of Figs." You take a little at night, and in the morning all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and fermenting food, delayed in the bowels, gently moves out of the system. When you awaken all head-ache, indigestion, sourness, foul taste, bad breath, fever and dizziness is gone; your stomach is sweet, liver and bowels clean, and you feel grand.

"California Syrup of Figs" is a family laxative. Everyone from grandpa to baby can safely take it and no one is ever disappointed in its pleasant action. Millions of mothers know that it is the ideal laxative to give cross, sick, feverish children. But get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups on each bottle. Refuse with contempt the cheaper Fig Syrups and counterfeits. See that it bears the name—"California Fig Syrup Company"—Advertisement.
